

First Lieutenant

No change is to be made in any part of the ship or rigging, without reference to the Commande—

He is to see that the spare topsail, & top gallant yards, are to be fitted, so far as practicable, and the spare sails are to be in order to bring to the yards,—

He is to have the Boats, at all times ready for service and all their sails & masts &c in good condition—

The gun & mortars of the Launch are to be at hand ready for use when required.

Officers & fighting Boats Crews, are to be appointed to each Boat except the Pigeon—

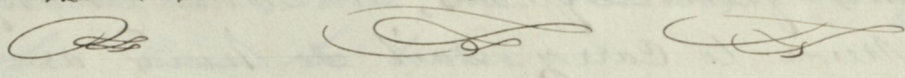

He is to see that each double Banked Boat must have three Boathooks & two spare Cars, fitted for use—

And single Banked. two Boathooks & one ^{sp.} Car ready & all are to have a Breaker, Bucket, & bailer.

The spare Cars, &c are to be placed in the Boats when sent on distant service.

The first Lieutenant is to make himself perfectly acquainted with every part of the ship & also with the crew keeping a register of the merits, & demerits, of all who may deserve Censure, or approbation.

Jag's 10th 1861

In the absence of the 1st Lieutenant
the executive duties will devolve on the 2^d

The Officer of the Deck

The Officer of the Deck is to be constantly on deck until relieved by his successor. The deck is never to be left without a regular watch officer unless by special permission of the Captain.

The Officer of the Deck before leaving, will inform his relieve, of all the orders that remain unexecuted, or which are to govern him, during his watch. At sea he is to ascertain what sail is on the ship, the course to be steered, the rate of sailing, the state of the weather, the bearing of land if in sight and if sailing in Squadron, the position of the ships in company.

In port he must learn the state of the Harbour and the position of the Boats, whether absent moored or run up. On taking charge of the deck he will see that the sails are properly set and trimmed, that the Wharves & Look-outs are relieved, that the watch are all on deck & every thing ready for taking in or making sail.

He is to have the ship properly steered the Officer & crew on the alert & attentive to their duty & the watch stationed to shorten sail at a moment notice. He is to take every precaution to prevent accidents from squalls, or sudden changes of wind and never to carry sail so hard as to endanger the spars, or rigging, or strain the hull. He is required never to trust a squall - but be always prepared to receive it.

He is to have his watch mustered as often as often as he may deem necessary as he will be held responsible for there being on deck. He is allowed to make or shorten sail at discretion - unless it is otherwise ordered.

On Watch

But whenever it is necessary in his judgement to take in or shake out reefs he will refer to the Captain. When sails are taken in he will have them neatly & snugly stowed, or furled, the yards properly secured, & squared, or fanned to the wind as may be required. He is to be particular that the Tack from the Quarter Deck is promptly answered & whenever sail is made or taken in he will if circumstances permit it repeat the evolution until it is well done. The Watch must be required to move quickly to pay attention to Orders & to execute them without noise & with alacrity.

The Commander is to be informed of every change of wind, & weather, and when the Ship, will not lay the given course, also the discovery of sails, Land, or danger, no alteration in the course is to be made, but by the Commander, unless to avoid a vessel or other immediate danger.

When sailing in Squadron he will regulate sail so as to preserve his station, & should he lose sight of any vessel in company, he will notify the Commander. At 1. Bell's & Part. 11. A.M. he will inform the Master, Midshipmen & Masters Mates, that it is time to Observe — & also the Master, Morning & Evening, when sights can be taken.

By day Lookouts are to be kept at the Mastheads — & from dusk till daylight stationed on deck.

He will have reported to him every two hours during the night the state of the Battery — & the depths of water in the Pump Well, & from 8 P.M. till daylight a Corporal of Marines, or Quarter Master, every hour to see that there are no improper lights below, and

and that every thing is safe about the Jetties and elsewhere of which he is to require a report the same rounds to be made in Port from Cotton to Kewille.

At Sea, in the morning, the Forward Officers, will make there reports to the Officer of the Deck who will communicate them to the 1st Lieutenant.

He is to be particular & deliver to his relief all unexecuted orders, & such information relative to weather, Land, Sails &c. as he received from the Officer who preceded him.

In Port he will permit no Boats to depart from or come to the Ship without his permission & Knowledge - & when vessels or boats come alongside with stores or Provisions he is to have them discharged as soon as possible.

He must try to keep a clear Bower by Shearing the Ship, or using after sails, if not moored he is take every precaution & measure necessary to prevent the Ship's fouling her anchor, to see that the Hands by the Anchor (if there is an anchor watch) are on the Alert, & that the man in the Chains by the Lead is awake - The Officer of the Deck at sea & in Port is to have a general superintendence of the Upper Deck & will be held responsible for the Cleanliness & good order of that part of the Ship. Particularly of the Quarter Deck & Poop - the Condition of - & Appearance of the Vessel aloft -

He is to prevent all profane swearing and all indecorous Language, all disturbance, wrangling & noise, and to report all offences that may come under his notice -

On the Watch

He is to be particular in carrying out all the Order of the Executive Officer, & to inform him when any Order from the Commander is prevented from being carried out.

The method of carrying on duty by the 1st Lieutenant, must be observed by the other Officers, as variety in these respects creates confusion in the performance of duty. When all hands are called for any special duty the Officer of the deck will inform the 1st Lieutenant, & other Officers immediately.

No military honours are to be paid before the Colors are hoisted, or after they are hauled down, unless special direction when in Port, the Watch Officer, in rotation will take the deck - from 8. Am till 8 P.M.

He will be particular in noting in the Log - the Course steered, & made good, the average rate of sailing the strength & direction of the Wind; sails set or taken in, Land, or Sails, discovered, with their bearings and if sailing in Squadron, the position of the Flag or leading ship at the expiration of the watch.

All public punishments are to be Logged, public stores received or sent from the ship - the quantity of water received at any time the daily employment of the Mechanics & Crew; Rigging newly row, State of the Boats if moved, Enlistments, transfers, deaths & desertions - the Salutes the arrival & departure of men of War, & W.M., States Merchant vessels, all evolutions and exercises of every kind mustering, & inspecting, the Crew, preparations for going into port, & going to sea. & on going into Port the Depths of water anchored in scope of Cable out, if moved the direction of wind open Hauls, In short every transaction of a Public Nature to be noted on the Log.

The Barometer at 8 Am and 8 P.M. in Port will be taken, also the temperature of the air

Officer of the Deck on watch, Concluded

At Sea, the Barometer is to be noted every 2 hours - also the temperature of the air, & water, every two hours. The remarks of each watch, must be examined & signed at its expiration, and the Log Book signed every day ~

Commanding Officers of Divisions

The Officer's Commanding Division, will inspect & take account of the Clothing, belonging to the men of there Divisions - on the last Saturday of every month; which list are to be sent to me with the Cloth requisition for the following month

Every person is to have his Cloth, bedding, hats, &c. marked with his name & Ship's number all cloths must have stops on them, & all coats have china straps attached, The men are to be notified that no sale, or exchange of Clothing or any other articles enumerated in the Cloth list, is to be made without the Consent of the Officer Commanding the Division to which they belong.

The Officers will be held responsible, for the appearance, & cleanliness, of there men, & the Condition of there arms, and the Bright works at the Gun, They will see that the men appear in the Uniform of the Ship & have there hair & whiskers trimmed agreeably to regulation.

Perfect silence & decorum must be observed during inspection. Each person will touch his Hat or Cap as his name is called, & no one is to leave his Quarters until the last sound of the retreat. A Report is to be made is to be made every quarter to the 1st Lieutenant of all those who by there General good, ~~quarters~~ Conduct & attention merit approbation or reward & also of the inattentive, indolent, slovenly, & undeserving.
